THE EYES HAVE IT as Captain Carl Yastrzemski laces a hit in the memorable '75 World Series that, hopefully, will be repeated with a different result next October. Meanwhile, the eyes — and the ayes — have it about Red Sox baseball this '76 season at friendly Fenway, the most unique and exciting park.

Richard H. O'Connell*Executive Vice-PresidentGeneral Manager*

Dick O'Connell is in his 30th year with the Red Sox organization. He moved steadily to his present position since he became business manager of the Lynn Red Sox in 1946: Director of Park Operations in 1951; Executive Vice-President of Business Operations in 1960; General Manager in 1965. O'Connell is a Winthrop native, a Belmont resident and holder of Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Boston College, where he played football and baseball. He joined the Red Sox family after World War II Navy service as an intelligence officer in the Pacific. Voted The Sporting News Executive of the Year in 1975.

Darrell D. Johnson*Field Manager*

Some say the Red Sox won the '75 World Series three games to four. Cincinnati's Sparky Anderson admitted: "We're the World Champs — but not by much." One cause of the comments, of course, was the daring and imaginative managing of Darrell Johnson, now in his third season. His handling of young players like Fred Lynn, Jim Rice and Rick Burleson was especially noteworthy and his coolness under pressure was admired by all. Manager of the Year honors were eminently deserved. Darrell's background includes a seven-season career as a major league catcher, minor league manager, major league pitching coach and scout. He has touched all the bases.

Thomas A. Yawkey*President*

He watches from his rooftop box, probably the biggest Red Sox rooster of 'em all. Thomas Austin Yawkey, 73, is in his fifth decade of Red Sox ownership. Since his first season in 1933 when he refurbished baseball's most unique showcase — Fenway Park — Mr. Yawkey has seen 'em all: Joe Cronin, Jimmy Foxx, Ted Williams, the last of the .400 hitters, Dom DiMaggio, Johnny Pesky, Frank Malzone, Carl Yastrzemski, Carlton Fisk, Loo-ie Tiant and those exciting newcomers Fred Lynn and Jim Rice. He has been rewarded with American League championships in 1946-67-75 and, hopefully, that elusive World Series championship this season.

FRED 19

PENSIVE POSE is struck by Jim Rice and Fred Lynn as they discuss hitting strategy. This 1-2 threat accounted for 207 RBI last season. With right fielder Dwight Evans they form the brightest young outfield in the major leagues. Lynn (on cover) was the first American Leaguer ever to win Rookie and MVP honors in the same season. He also was singled out by The Sporting News, AP, UPI, the Boston Baseball Writers and New England TV fans. He won 13 major awards. Fans still buzz over his three-homer, 10 RBI game in Detroit last season, but many more banner days are on the horizon. Fred went to USC on a football scholarship, was a frosh teammate of Super Bowl hero Lynn Swann. Played on three NCAA baseball championship teams at USC, made All-America, 1972-1973. Sensational fielder.

LOO-IE 23

EL TIANTE ELEGANTE read one of the headlines, but here Luis Tiant was seething, as was Mgr. Darrell Johnson, at NL umpire Nick Colosi for calling a balk in Tiant's first World Series victory. "Loo-ie," cried Fenway fans, a chant repeated by millions of TV viewers. Tiant, of course, was a dominant Series' figure, just as he has been a crowd-pleasing mainstay for the Red Sox for several seasons. Luis' style on the mound is, in a word, inimitable. He twists and turns, gyrates and gesticulates, glares and grimaces. It's easy to see how he fakes out the batter and, in this case, Sox fans insist, the umpire from "the other league."

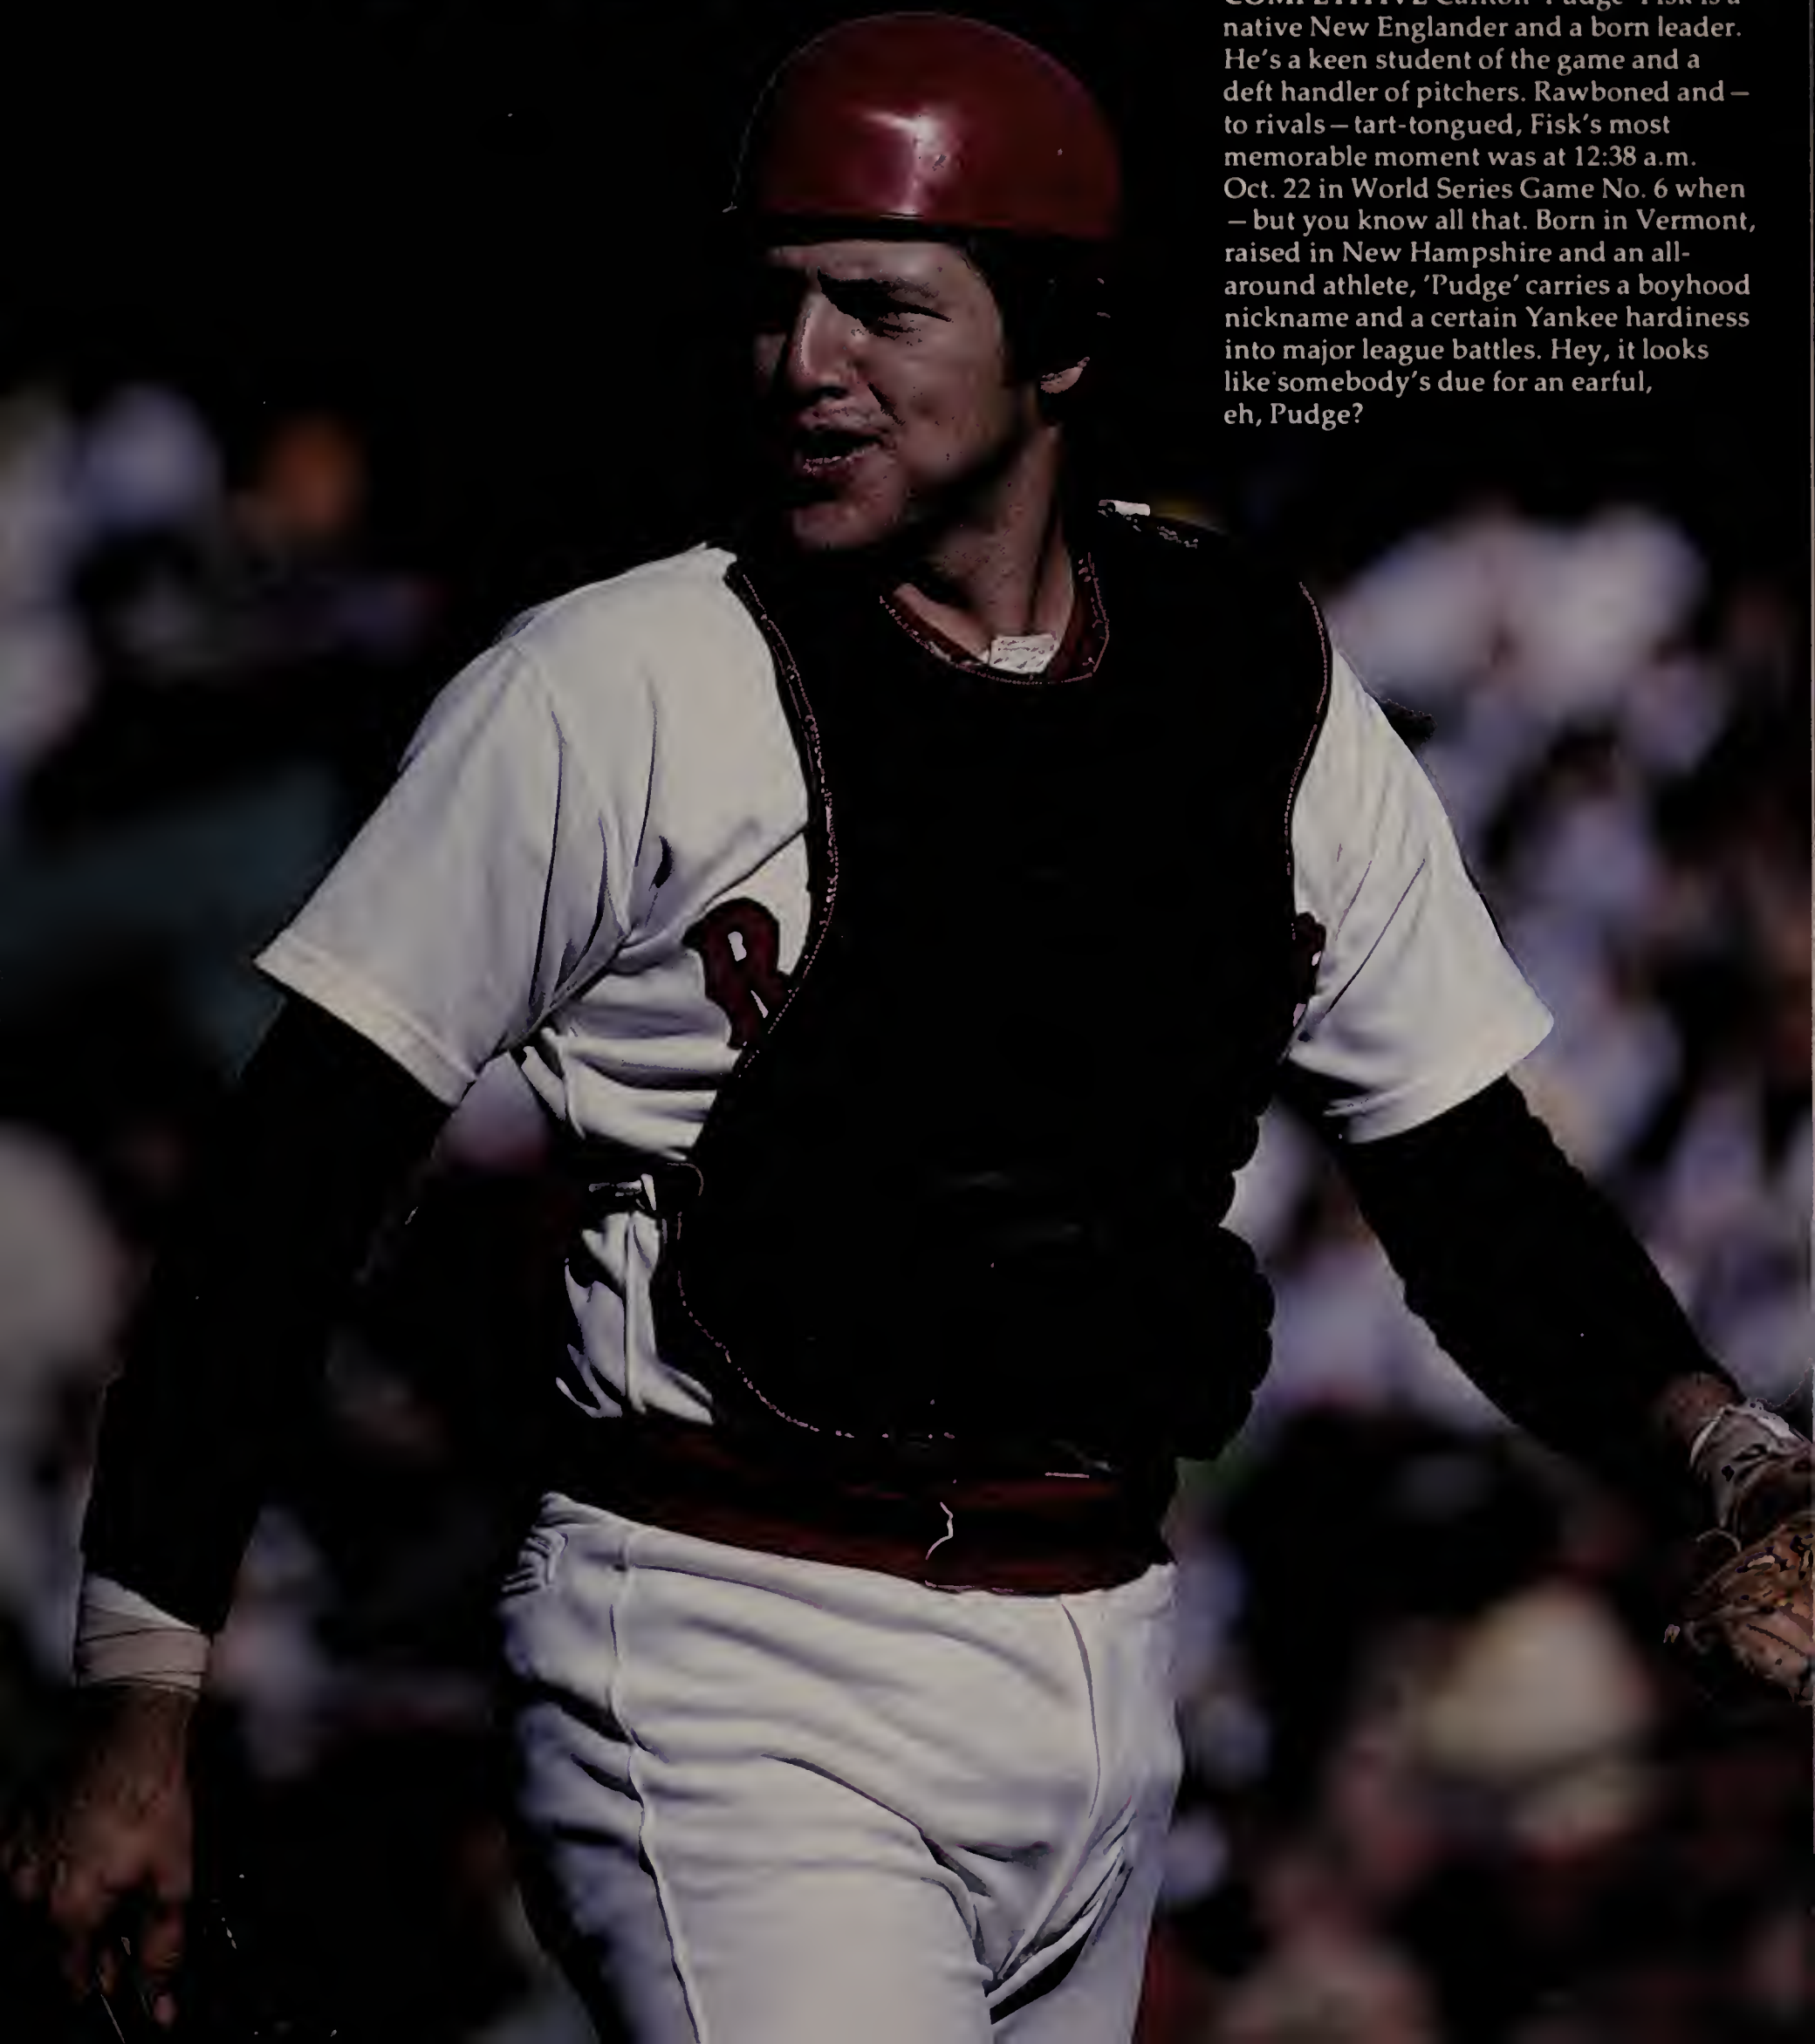

14 JIM

AWESOME POWER is what slugger Jim Rice represents when he strides to the plate. Indeed, all-time home run king Hank Aaron lauded the Red Sox outfielder as one young player with a chance to challenge his marks. Jim hits the ball out of sight. Failing that, he raises lumps on The Wall at Fenway. Played errorless ball in 90 games at left field position. Garnered 10 letters (baseball, football, basketball, track) in high school at Anderson, S.C. Fully recovered from broken left hand of last September.

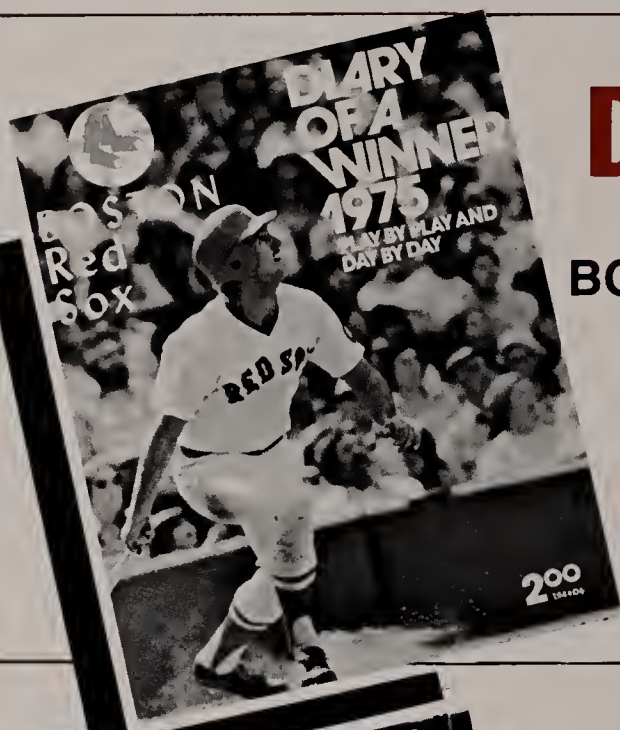

PUDGE 27

COMPETITIVE Carlton 'Pudge' Fisk is a native New Englander and a born leader. He's a keen student of the game and a deft handler of pitchers. Rawboned and — to rivals — tart-tongued, Fisk's most memorable moment was at 12:38 a.m. Oct. 22 in World Series Game No. 6 when — but you know all that. Born in Vermont, raised in New Hampshire and an all-around athlete, 'Pudge' carries a boyhood nickname and a certain Yankee hardness into major league battles. Hey, it looks like somebody's due for an earful, eh, Pudge?

FERGY 31

NO ONE DREAMS OF BEING A STAR, BUT FERGY 31 HAS. THE 31-YEAR-OLD SINGER HAS BEEN A PART OF THE MUSIC INDUSTRY SINCE HE WAS 15, AND HE'S NOW ONE OF THE MOST POWERFUL MEN IN THE BUSINESS. HE'S GOT THE POWER TO MAKE OR BREAK A SONG, AND HE'S GOT THE POWER TO MAKE OR BREAK A CAREER. HE'S GOT THE POWER TO MAKE OR BREAK A LEGEND.

YAZ 8

CAPTAIN CARL Yastrzemski is one of the most feared — and respected — hitters in the game. Here he draws a bead on the pitcher. Yaz really needs no introduction to long-time Red Sox fans. He can hit for power or for average and has played the outfield and infield. Little noted is his durability, game after game, season after season. He is a respected leader on and off the field, and plays best when the pressure is greatest. Yaz is in his 16th major league season, yearns for the one honor that has eluded him — a World Series championship. Maybe in '76, eh?

ROOSTER 7

STRAINING on every play has become the hallmark of shortstop Rick Burleson. It always has been this way, but Sox fans became enamoured of his hard-trying ways — this pose is typical — when he missed just 36 innings en route to the AL championship. “Rooster” is bantam-sized (5-10, 165), but is one of the toughest hitters in tight situations. Ask the Oakland A’s. When the computers whirled, they showed Richard Paul Burleson the most devastating hitter against ‘em. Ask anybody. They’ll tell you what a keen player “Rooster” is — at bat or in the field.

DENINNY 5

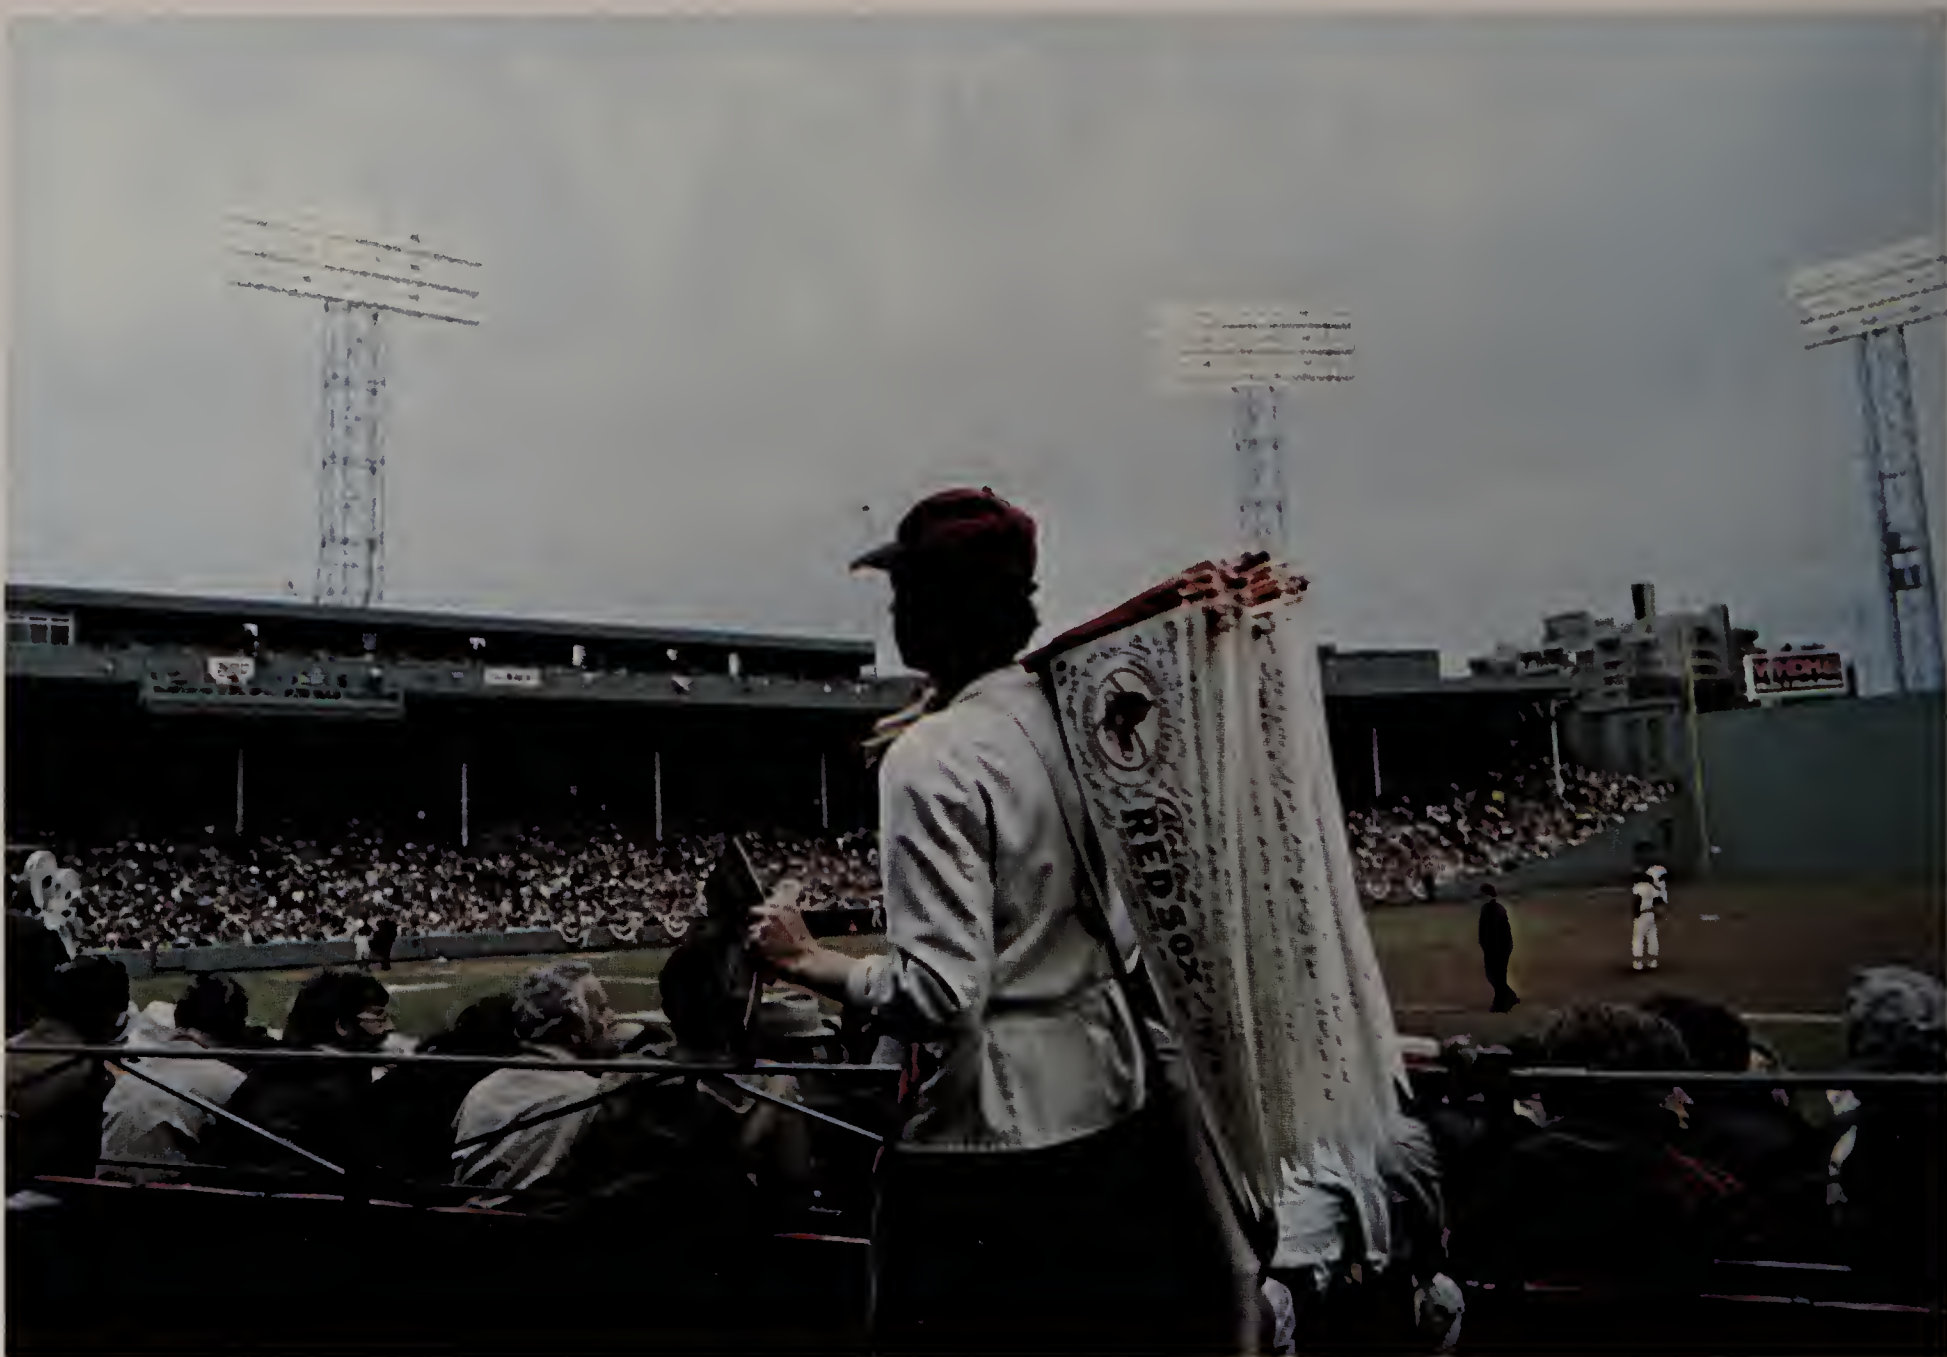

POPULAR Denny Doyle debuted with a Red Sox homer — and things went up from there. Robert Dennis Doyle, the feisty second baseman had a 22-game hitting streak plus a number of game-saving plays afield. The pride of Cave City, Ky. was the only player with a hit in all seven World Series games. He survived crunching take-out blocks as middle man on double plays — remember A's Reggie Jackson in the playoffs? — and proved a dedicated team man, willing to sacrifice himself to advance a runner. In the process, he won many fans with the way he challenged everybody — as he does the pitcher in this typical closeup.

DEWEY 24

GREATEST CATCH Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds ever saw, he claims, was Dwight Evans' in the sixth Series game, but, heck, Red Sox fans knew all along what a radiant outfielder—and hitter—Dewey is. Evans is the third member of the Lynn-Rice troika that makes Boston's outfield the most exciting in many baseball years. Evans has a howitzer for an arm. He was a pitcher-third baseman in earlier years, which may explain his throwing skills, number of assists and participation in double plays. He also has a keen eye at the plate and hits with power. Dewey can, as they say, do it all.

RICO 6

INTENSE best describes Rico Petrocelli when he's poised to stop a shot down the third base line. Rico's fielding skills weren't fully appreciated until he was forced from the lineup. In addition, he's a power hitter—especially at home with his “Fenway swing” that challenges the left field wall every at-bat. Rico is skilled afield with the bare-handed stab at a bunt, the long throw to first, the acrobatic lunge. He's pretty nifty.

SPACEMAN

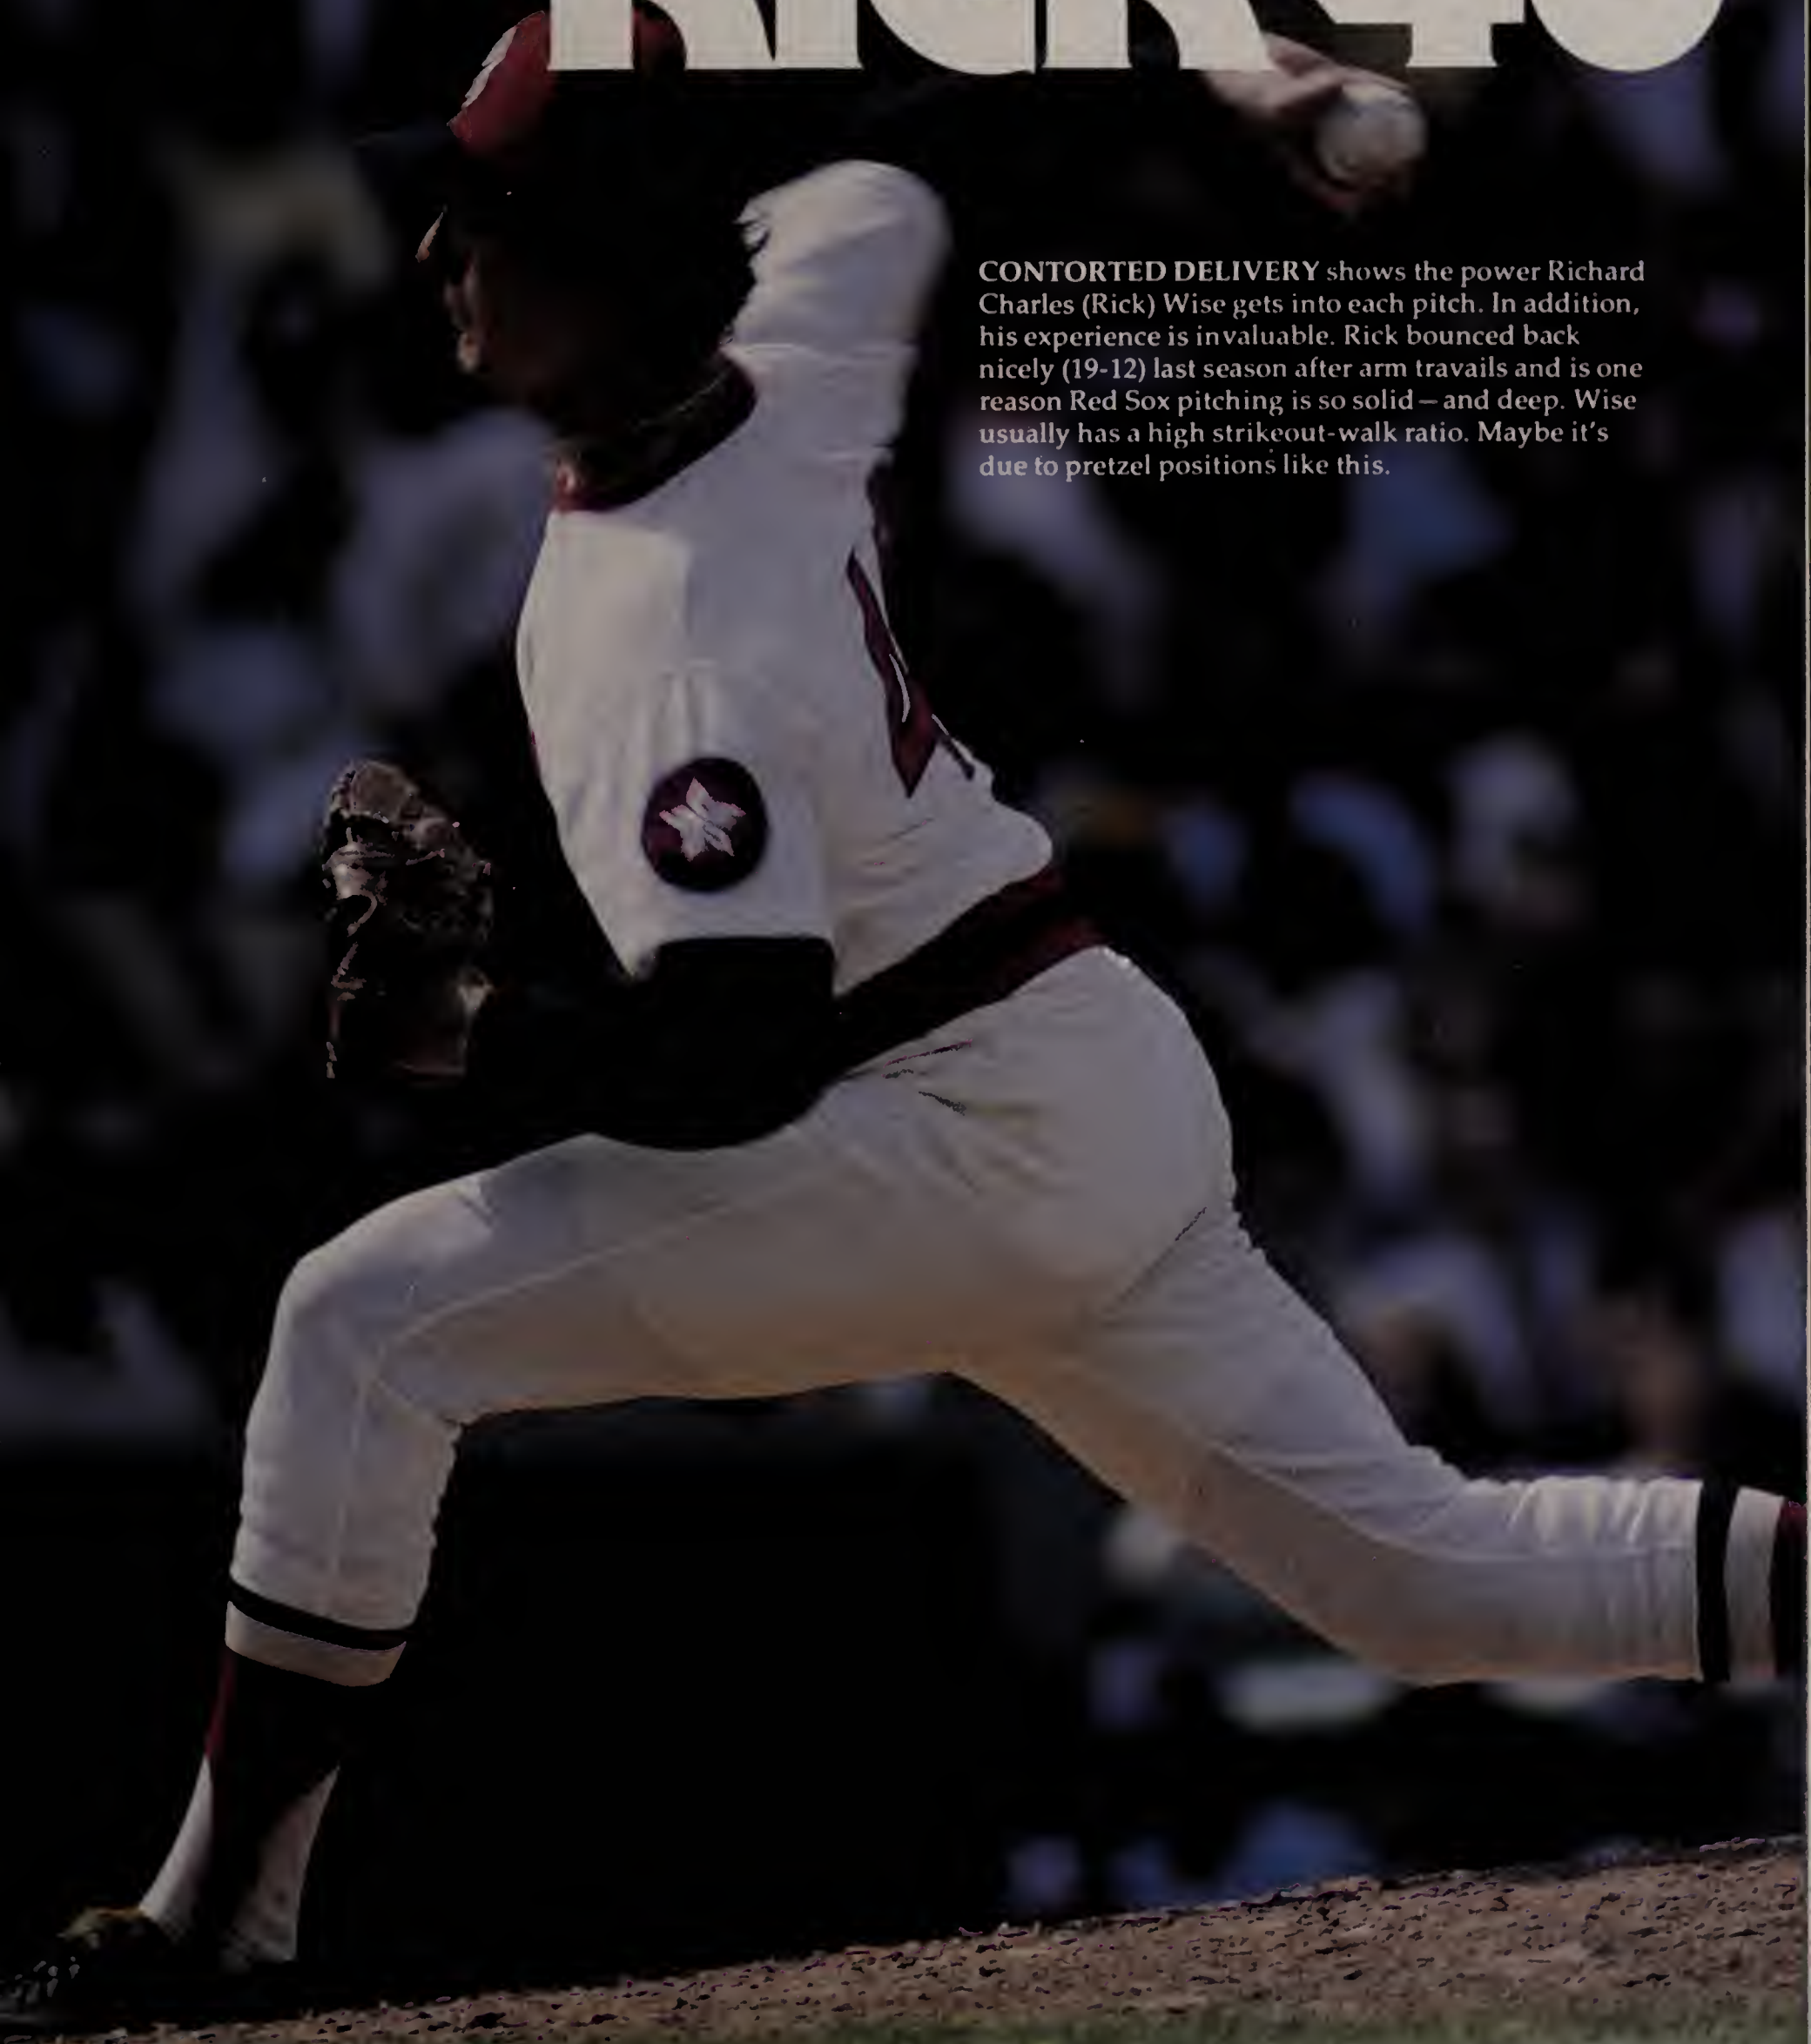

37

HATS OFF to William Francis (Bill) Lee, alias "Spaceman", southpaw and blithe spirit. Bill marches to his own drummer, but when he marches to the mound, it's all business with an assortment of pitches that defy descriptions. Suffice to say Lee is different — and very effective.

RICK 40

CONTORTED DELIVERY shows the power Richard Charles (Rick) Wise gets into each pitch. In addition, his experience is invaluable. Rick bounced back nicely (19-12) last season after arm travails and is one reason Red Sox pitching is so solid – and deep. Wise usually has a high strikeout-walk ratio. Maybe it's due to pretzel positions like this.

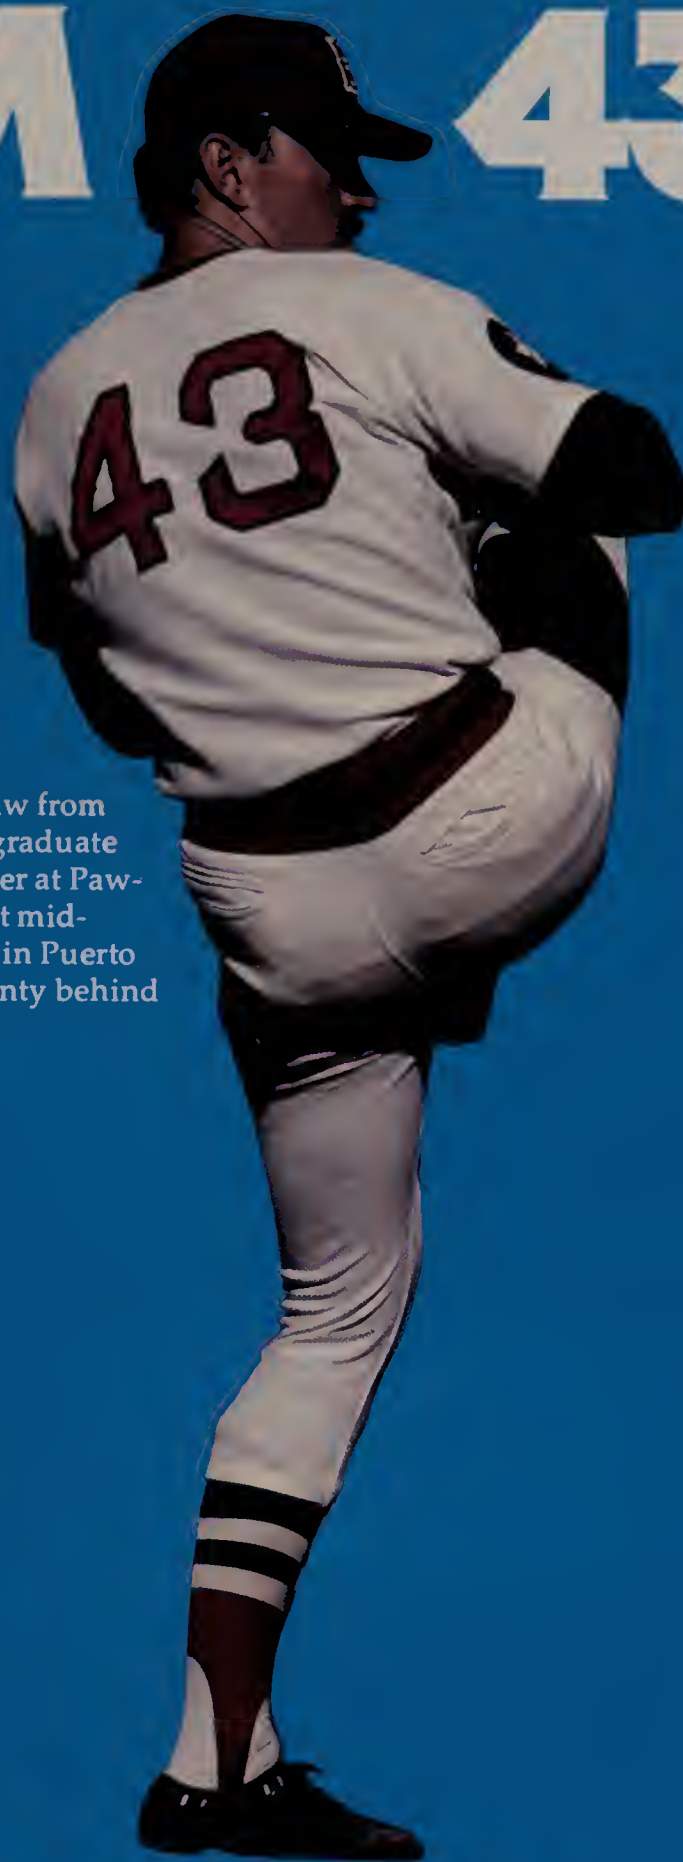

CECIL 17

DH EXTRAORDINARY is Cecil Celester Cooper, occasional first baseman utilized mostly for his hitting prowess which led the '75 AL Designated Hitters with .318. Cooper also can play the outfield, but his value in the DH role can't be overstated since he hits with power and adds the element of speed in a pivotal position. This pose is typical as he peers out high into the right field stands . . . going, going, gone!

JIM 43

LONG RELIEVER Jim Burton, a southpaw from Rochester, Mich. is a Univ. of Michigan graduate with fine credentials, including a no-hitter at Pawtucket that brought him to the varsity last mid-season. Pitched last winter with Arecibo in Puerto Rico. At 6-3 and 198 pounds, Jim gets plenty behind his fast ball.

BERNIE 1

HISTORY-MAKER Bernie Carbo needs no introduction after his three-run pinch homer in World Series Game No. 6, possibly the best of all time and certainly the most pulsating in recent history. Appears destined for a backup role in outfield and for DH duties, which is OK with him. Says Bernie: "Hey, we've got one of the finest young teams around. This club can win everything for the next five years. I know I can be the best fourth outfielder in the league. And I can help as a designated hitter."

TV personalities

DICK STOCKTON has vast TV experience on play-by-play in baseball and many other sports — notably basketball and NFL games. He was Sports Director and a nightly feature on WBZ-TV, moving to Boston from Pittsburgh's KDKA where he did Pirates' and Steelers' shows. Dick had an 8-year association with CBS-TV and spent the past winter with the New York Knicks. He's a Syracuse University product.

KEN 'HAWK' HARRELSON needs no introduction to ardent Red Sox fans who remember his role in the winning of the '67 American League pennant and his 35-homer, 109-RBI season in '68. Outfielder-first baseman Harrelson moved on to the Indians, retired in '71 to pursue a short-lived pro golf career. 'Hawk' is a native of Savannah, Ga., suh, and tells it like it is.

Jim Rice, Fred Lynn discuss hitting in private session

REGGIE

BACK-TO-BACK SHUTOUTS clinched the '75 A.L. pennant for the Red Sox, and Reginald Leslie (Reggie) Cleveland pitched one of 'em. Reggie, in fact, won several key games down the pulsating stretch run. He was 9-3 after July 6 and 4-0 in September. Native of Swift Current, Sask., Canada, Cleveland now makes his home in St. Petersburg, Fla. First Canadian to start a World Series game.

2 DUDE

THEY CALL HIM 'DUDE' and it's easy to see why when slick-fielding Doug Griffin glides behind a grounder at second base. Doug's star-crossed career is due for a change after physical travails. His record shows his value when hale and hearty: 7 for 9 as a pinch-hitter in clutch situations. Preceded a fella named Fred Lynn at El Monte, Calif. high school. Lives year-round in Peabody, Mass.

MONTY

VERSATILITY is Bob Montgomery's bag. His primary role, of course, is as a receiver and backup to Carlton 'Pudge' Fisk. But he has proved a clutch hitter and a very handy man. Monty was a pitcher-outfielder-first baseman in schoolboy days, had a five-game stint at 1b in '75. Worked off-season selling advertising for the Red Sox. A model train expert.

16 RICK

RANGE, SPEED and a deadly arm make Rick Miller one of the best defensive outfielders in the game. But he faces a tough array of competition for regular play, which is one reason he honed his skills at Estralles in the Dominican Republic this winter. Effective pinch-hitter and pinch-runner. Also a skilled bunter, perhaps the best on the roster. Married Carlton Fisk's sister, Janet Marie and lives in Charlestown, N.H.

WHAT A NICE PLACE TO SPEND AN EVENING

DIEGO

TRICKY PITCHES are Diego Segui's forte. The veteran Cuban right hander has many wiles in his repertoire when he comes from the bullpen. Diego Pablo Segui has made many stops since he turned professional out of Holquin, Oriente, Cuba in 1958 with major league stops in Kansas City, Washington, Oakland and St. Louis before he came to the Red Sox in 1974. Close friend of fellow Cuban Luis Tiant.

39 TIM

BACKUP BACKSTOP is Tim Blackwell's assignment, and he's good at it. A fine receiver and handler of pitchers, Tim was rushed into service in '74 when Carlton Fisk shattered his knee. He was MVP in baseball and football at Crawford high school, San Diego, Calif. and was drafted by the Red Sox in 1970 as a third baseman. Also had experience as a pitcher and outfielder. Attends junior college in off-season.

38

JIM

WHAT A RELIEF to see lean James Arthur (Jim) Willoughby ambling in from the bullpen in a tight situation! Jim's twisting, corkscrew gyrations in relief caused all kinds of consternation to Red Sox rivals last season after his July acquisition from the Cardinals' chain. Appeared in 14 winning games in the pennant push. A native Californian, Jim was an original Giants' chattel. An ardent chess player — with a lot of moves on the mound, too.

45 DICK

SMOKE AND MORE SMOKE is what Dick Pole throws. His fast ball ranks with the best in the majors and it's largely his strikeout pitch. Richard Henry Pole, 25, hails from Trout Creek, Mich. where he was noted for his basketball prowess. Bounced back from a line drive which shattered his cheek bone and showed no timidity in his return. Played in Dominican Republic this winter.

29

TOM HOUSE

LEFT-HANDED RELIEF was sought by the Red Sox and they found it in an off-season trade with Atlanta that brought Thomas Ross (Tom) House, 29, one-time USC teammate of Bill Lee's. House posted 13 wins, 22 saves in two previous seasons with the Braves. A memorable moment was catching Hank Aaron's 715th homer April 8, 1974. House lives in Coronado, Calif. and has appeared as a movie-TV extra, but his Hub role starts in the bullpen.

30

DERON JOHNSON

THEY CALL HIM 'D' but the Red Sox append an 'H' since DH is Deron Roger Johnson's primary concern. The left field wall looms as a tempting target for the right-handed power hitter on his second Red Sox tour, his ninth major league team in a peripatetic 15-year career. Backup man at first base.

42 DON AASE

GREAT PROMISE rests in the strong right arm of Donald William (Don) Aase, 21, one of the brightest Red Sox pitching prospects out of Orange, Calif. Don's 8-13 record at Pawtucket is deceiving since the triple A affiliate had a so-so record. Aase throws hard — and he throws strikes.

11 KIM ANDREW

HITTING is Kim Andrew's forte with a .300-plus average in each of four pro seasons. Andrew, 22, hails from Sepulveda, Calif. and was acquired from Baltimore's system. Plays second base. Three-year MVP in high school, set junior college hitting records, four of 'em, including a .470 average.

21 BUCK BAKER

POWER HITTING first baseman Jack Edward (Buck) Baker, hails from Birmingham, Ala. Signed by Scout Milt Bolling after his draft out of Auburn University where he majored in business administration. At 6'5", 228 he's one of the biggest Boston prospects.

41 JOHN BALAZ

RIGHT-HANDED HITTER John Lawrence Balaz, 25, was acquired in the California trade for Dick Drago. The native of San Diego, Calif. was MVP in the California League in '73 after 28 homers, 113 RBI, 260 total bases. Player of the Year in Texas League in '74 with 111 RBI, 292 total bases.

49 MARK BARR

USC STAR Mark Barr, 23, pitched four College World Series wins in two years. Made league-leading 69 appearances with Pawtucket last season as 6-3, 200-lb. relief specialist. Lives in Westminster, Calif. Brother Jim plays for San Francisco Giants.

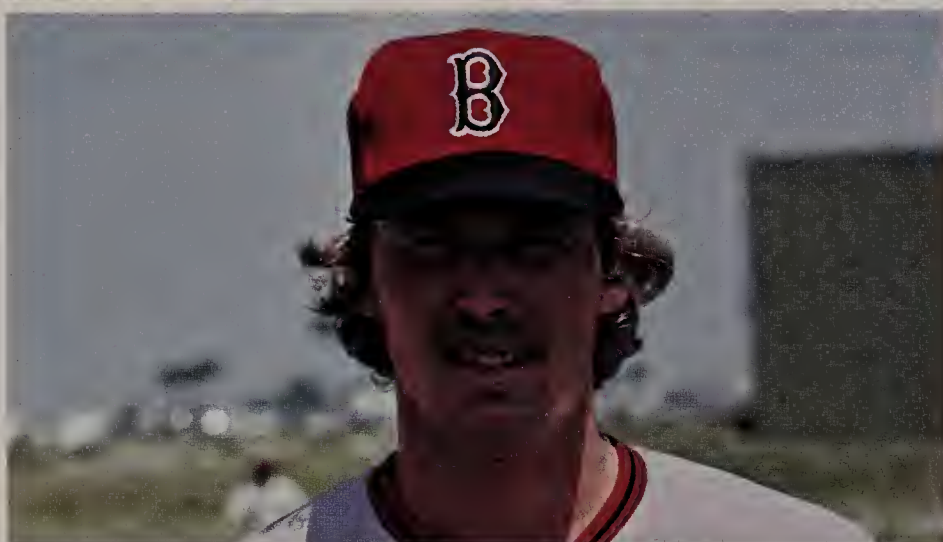

15 BOMBER BOMBACK

HIGH SCHOOL STAR at Durfee in Fall River, Mass. Mark Vincent (Bomber) Bombback is a right-handed pitcher of whom much is expected after he posted a 12-6 record at Bristol in the Eastern League. Pitched Durfee to State title in '71.

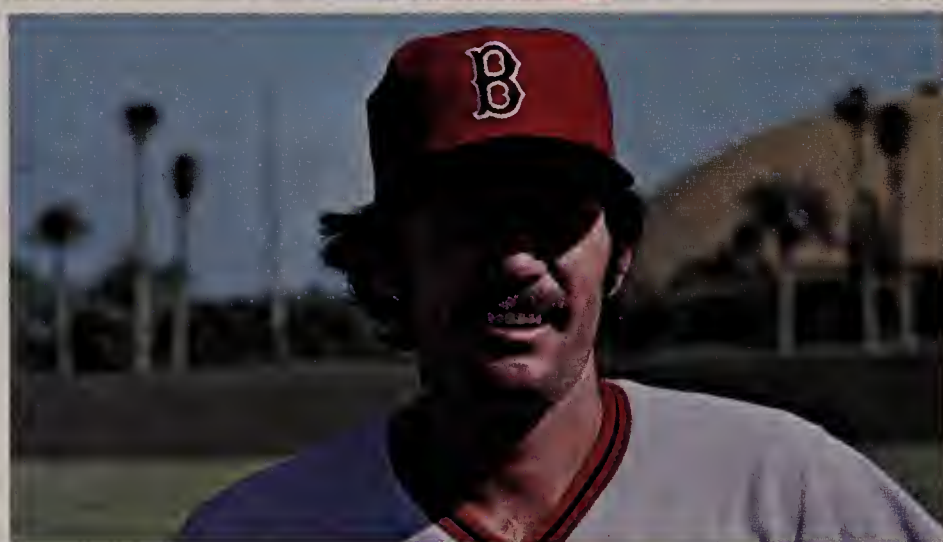

18 TED COX

NO. 1 SELECTION in the 1973 June draft — ahead of Fred Lynn — was third baseman William (Ted) Cox, 21, of Midwest, Okla. Led Carolina League last season in hits (154) and average (.305).

3 STEVE DILLARD

No. 2 SELECTION in the June, 1972 draft, Stephen Bradley (Steve) Dillard is an infielder with range, super base-running skills and an aggressive style at bat. Only question is his throwing from shortstop after arm surgery. Threw well from second base and has all the other tools.

12 BOB HEISE

UTILITY INFIELDER Robert Lowell (Bob) Heise moved about last season: 45 games at third; 14 at second, four at shortstop, even one at first base. Came from Angels in '75 and his versatility makes his valuable.

4 BUTCH HOBSON

THIRD BASEMAN Clell Lavern (Butch) Hobson, Jr., hailed from Bessemer, Ala. comes off a power-hitting season with Bristol in the Eastern League and an impressive showing in the Florida Instructional team. Set a Southeast Conference home run record at Alabama. American Legion and high school MVP, picked baseball over football.

46 RICK JONES

SOUTHPAW PITCHER Thomas Fredrick (Rick) Jones is the son of a former minor leaguer and the brother of another out of Jacksonville, Fla. He's 6'5", 195, impressed with a 13-3 record at Winston-Salem where he was Carolina League "Pitcher of the Year."

50 ANDY MERCHANT

RED-HEADED CATCHER James Anderson (Andy) Merchant went 2 for 4 in his first major league appearance last season — and it won't be the last. Merchant is a bright prospect who batted .400 at Auburn University. Native of Mobile, Ala. played on U.S. team in '71 Pan-Am Games.

25 GENE MICHAEL

VERSATILITY is Eugene Richard (Gene) Michael's assignment this season since he plays three infield positions, with shortstop his most natural. Looms as backup to 'Rooster' Burleson. Veteran of nine major league seasons. Top basketball-baseball star at Kent State.

44 GERRY SPENCER

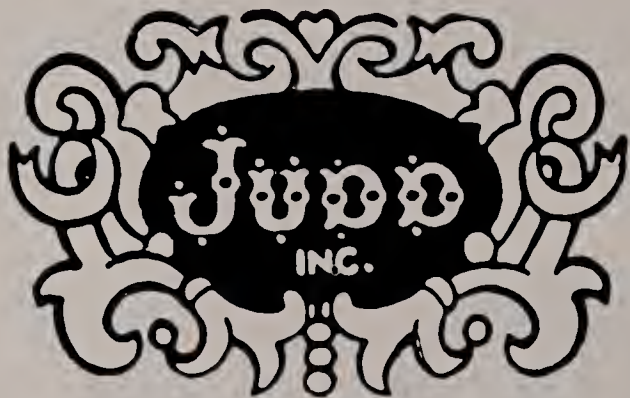

STEADY PROGRESS through the Red Sox system has been the hallmark of pitcher Gerald Wayne (Gerry) Spencer, 24, of San Antonio, Texas. Drafted in 1970 when he turned pro with Jamestown, he moved through the ranks and split last season between Bristol and Pawtucket.

48 JIM WRIGHT

BRIGHT PITCHING PROSPECT is James Clifton (Jim) Wright, 25, Coopersville, Mich., a right-hander who was selected on the fourth round of the 1969 June draft. Jim split last season between Bristol, Conn. and Pawtucket, R.I.

Left to right: Pudge . . . Henry . . . and Bowie

A Rose is a Rose . . . and the Series' MVP

A strange role for Luis Tiant — baserunner

Jubilation: Rico . . . Loo-ie . . . Denny . . . Yaz

THE SERIES

It was THE World Series and, for a change, all baseball buffs were in agreement. The Cincinnati Reds, of course, won the thrilling 1975 classic against the Boston Red Sox in the ninth inning of the seventh game at fabled Fenway Park with its "Green Monster."

Jubilant Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson was the first to admit:

"We are the best team in baseball—but not by much. In all sincerity, I don't know that there's ever been a better World Series."

THE Series had everything:

Game One: Mustachioed Luis Tiant, famed El Tiente, pitches a 5-hit shutout as jubilant Boston fans chant "Loo-ie." . . . "Loo-ie."

Game Two: Cinci's Johnny Bench doubles to key a two-run, two-out rally in the ninth won on Ken Griffey's two-bagger.

Game Three: Controversy rages after Ed Armbrister's bunt and collision with Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk on umpire Larry Barnett's non-interference call . . . and the Reds win, 6-5, in 10 innings.

Game Four: Tiant again, throwing 163 pitches and holding on with Fred Lynn's sensational running catch preserving a 5-4 victory in the ninth at Riverfront Stadium.

Game Five: The Big Red Machine shifts into high gear with Tony Perez' two homers and four RBI and Don Gullet's pitching heroics leading a 6-2 victory.

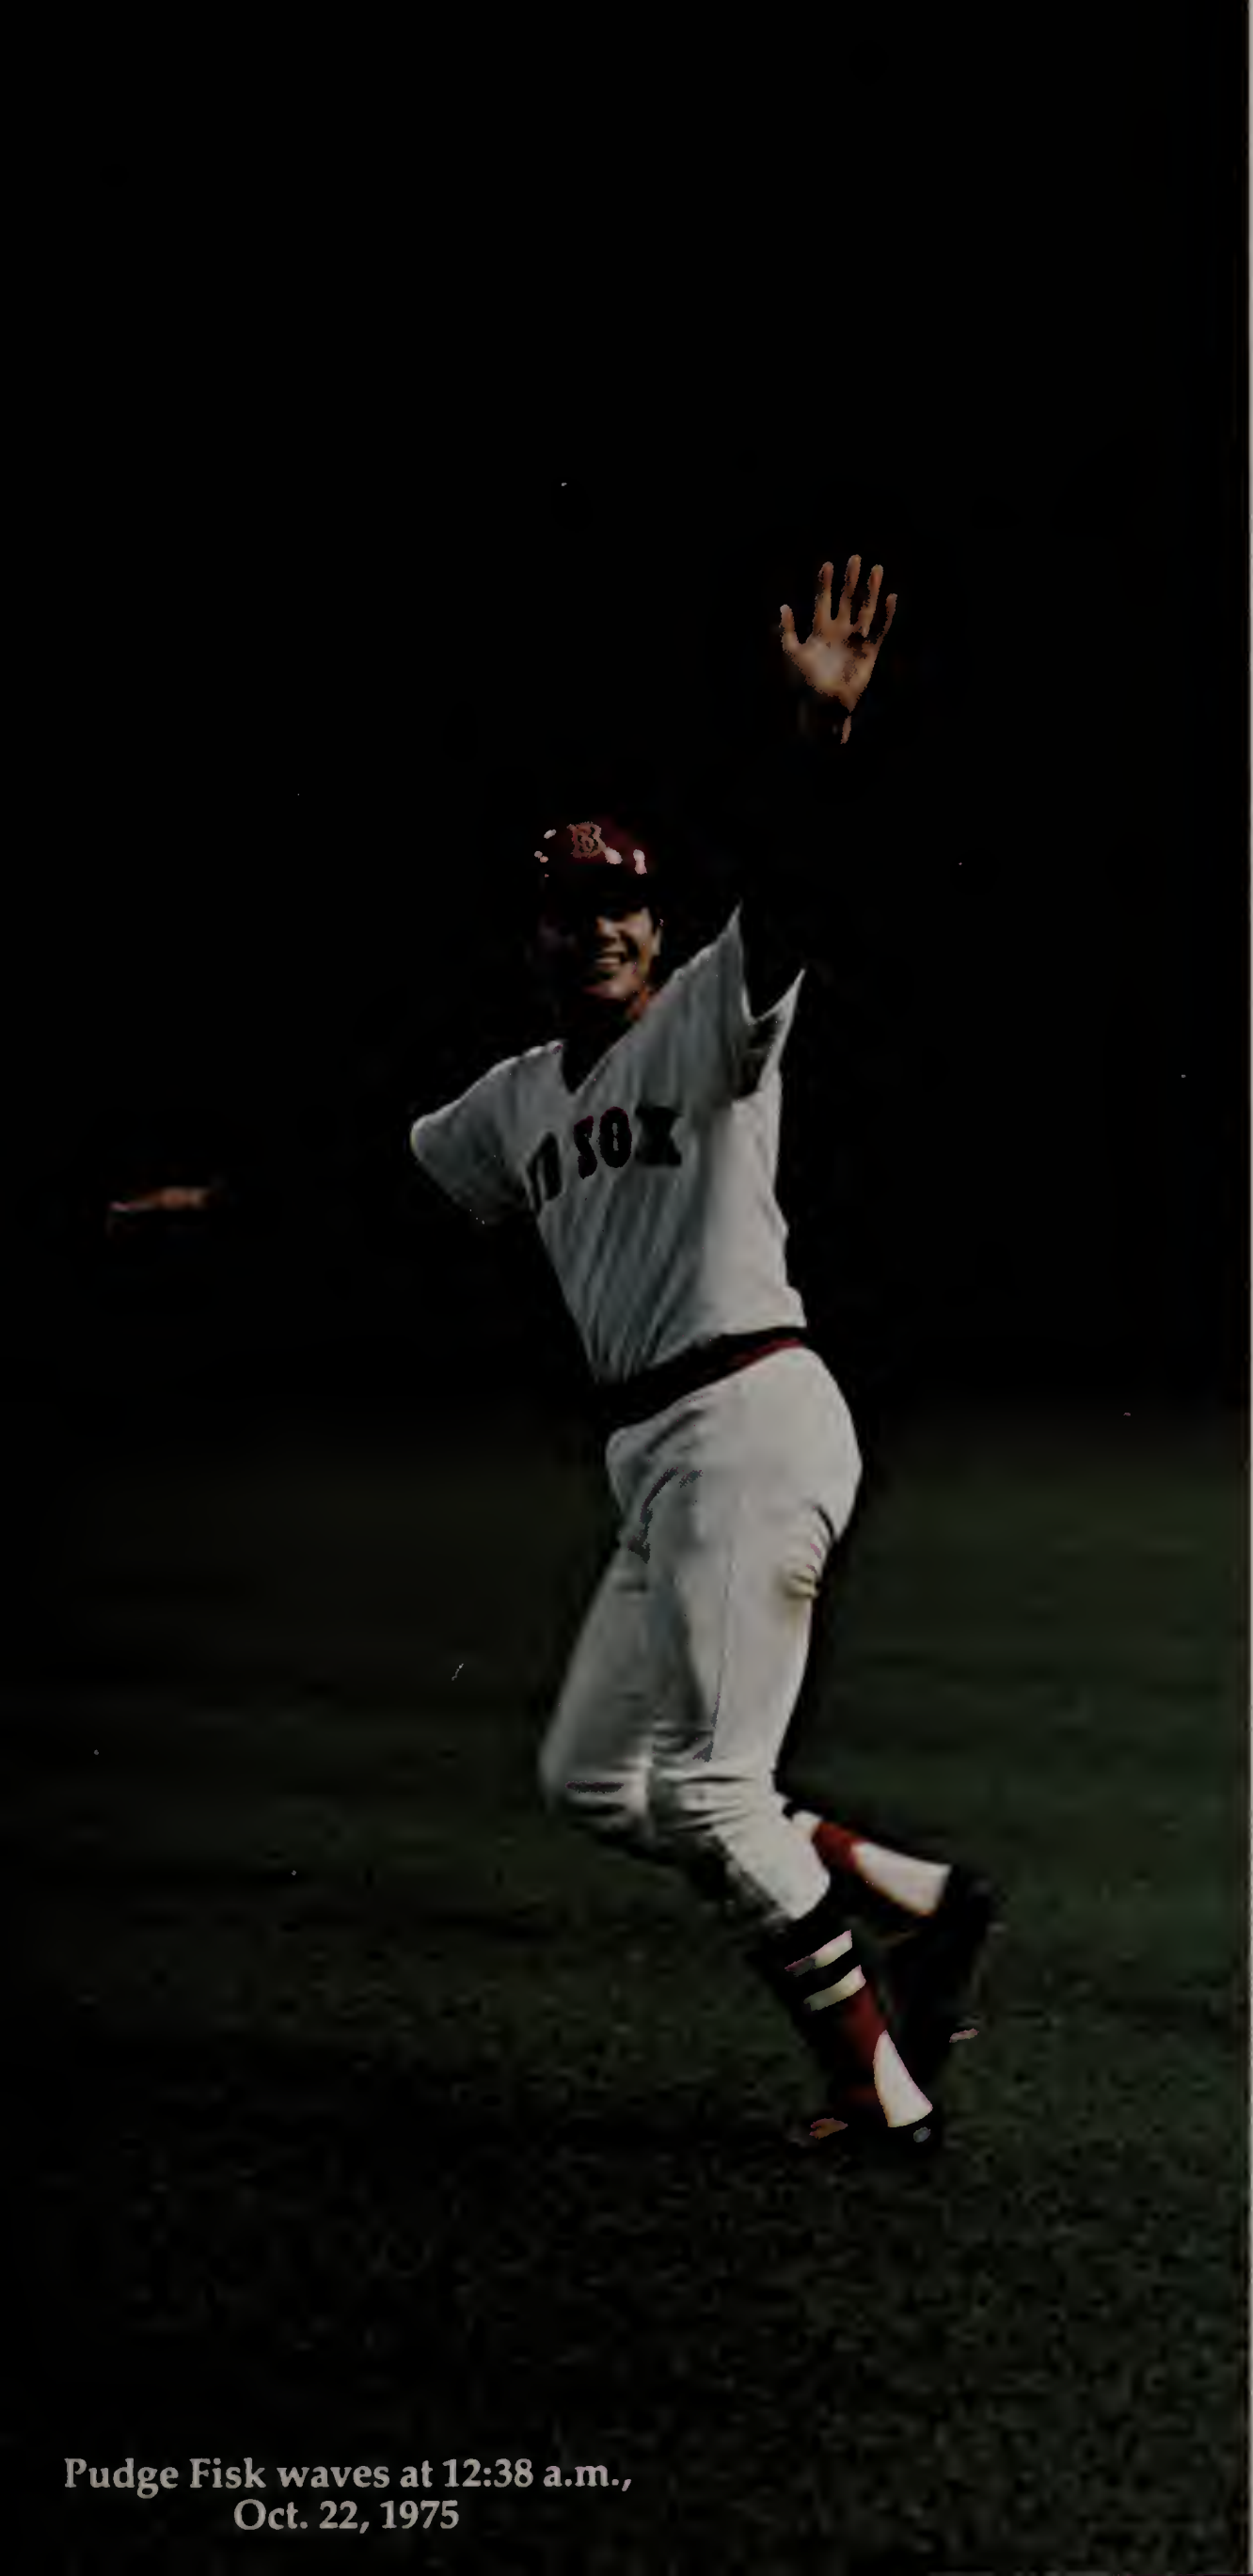

Game Six: Possibly the greatest game in World Series history, certainly one that kept 70 million glued to TV long past bedtime as Carlton Fisk put body-english on a 12th inning homer off the left field foul pole for a dramatic 7-6 win to square things, three-all.

Observed Series' MVP Pete Rose of the Reds: "If the sixth game didn't turn the country on, there is something wrong."

Game Seven: Emotions take a roller-coaster ride as the Red Sox establish a 3-0 lead, the Reds rally and win eventually when Joe Morgan strokes a game-winning single in the ninth for a 4-3 triumph and Cincinnati's first championship since 1940.

Oh, yes, there are statistics that show the closeness of THE World Series—Boston's 60 hits to Cincinnati's 59; the Red Sox' wispy 30-29 edge in runs; Cinci's nine stolen bases to Boston's none; five of the seven games decided by one run.

But sheer statistics don't capture the drama, the raw emotions, the competitive fire of the 1975 World Series . . . the one historians will call THE World Series.

According to the Rulebook: IT WAS INTERFERENCE

CONTROVERSIAL PLAY in '75 World Series occurred in the 10th inning of Game No. 3 and involved Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk with Cincinnati's Ed Armbrister. The New York News thought it was interference. AL Umpire Larry Barnett felt otherwise. He, too, had supporters. Arguments raged among millions of TV viewers. What do you think? Here's an EXCLUSIVE SEQUENCE: (1) Ball approaches Armbrister's bat. (2) Pinch-bunter starts motion. (3) Is he in reverse? (4-5) Play continues. (6) Cincinnati's Pete Rose lends an ear to Fisk and Barnett in their dispute. This occurred in Riverfront Stadium and was viewed by 60,090,000 fans via NBC-TV while the deciding Series game attracted 75,900,000 — the largest sports audience of all time.

The major league rules on interference by a batter:

Rule 2:00 INTERFERENCES. (a) Offensive interference is an act by the team at bat which interferes with, obstructs, impedes, hinders or confuses any fielder attempting to make a play. If the umpire declares the batter out for interference, all other runners shall return to the last base that was, in the judgement of the umpire, legally touched at the time of the interference, unless otherwise provided by these rules.

6.06 A batter is out for illegal action when —

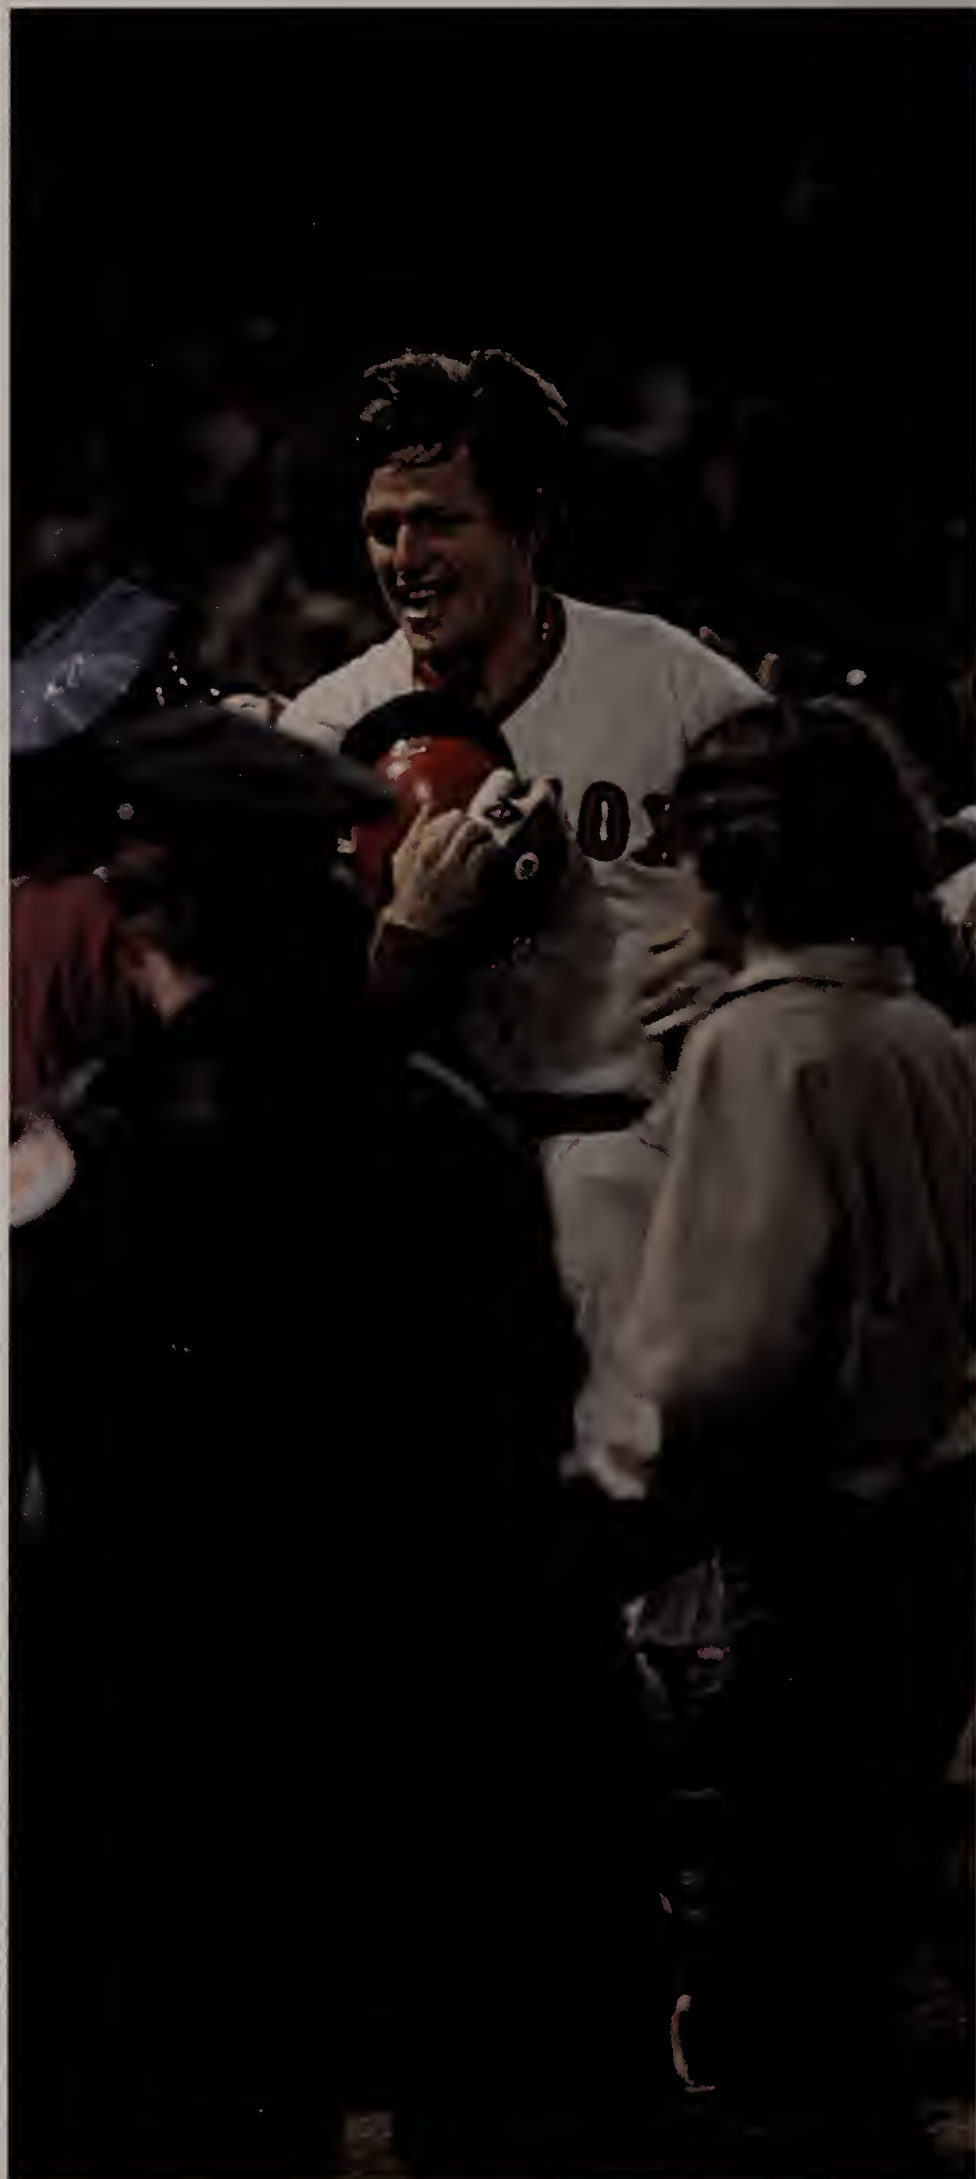

(c) he interfered with the catcher's fielding or throwing by stepping out of the batter's box or making any other movement that hinders the catcher's play at home base. EXCEPTION: Batter is not out if any runner attempting to advance is put out, or if runner trying to score is called out for batter's interference.

7.09 It is interference by a batter or a runner when —

(1) He fails to avoid a fielder who is attempting to field a batted ball, or intentionally interferes with a thrown ball, provided that if two or more fielders attempt to field etc., etc.

MARTIN & WOODS have become a New England institution in just three seasons with their wit, humor and, most important, candid comment on the radio play-by-play. Ned Martin's into his 16th Red Sox season, and — mercy — his fifth as leader of the "team". Jim Woods' distinctive voice and style make him a colorful companion. He lends experience that traces through the Yankees, New York Giants — yes, New York Giants — Pirates, Cardinals and Oakland A's.
